Ripple Kid of the Month - OC Family March

Lauren, 9, of Tustin

Lauren loves to read. With that as her inspiration, she decided to hold a book drive to benefit elementary schools in Orange County. She did her research online and found Reading by 9 (L.A. Times). With the help of several of her school friends, she started her project with the goal of collecting 500 books. A month later, they had collected 1,210 books! Lauren learned that kids love to make a difference, but sometimes they don't know how to get started. By inviting a large group, she shared not only the work, but also the reward of helping a great cause!

Lauren's project shows how the action of one person can inspire many more. Several of her original group - many of whom had not taken on community service projects in the past - have begun planning their own projects. All it takes is one to get the ripple started!

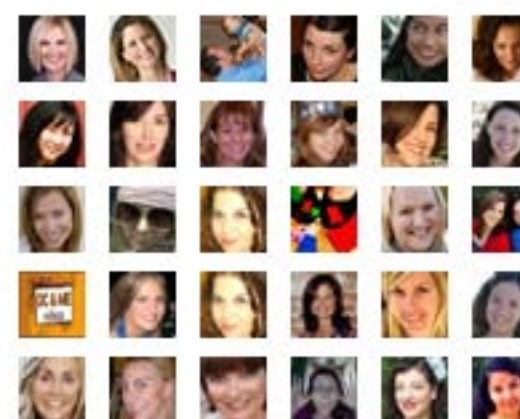

Bridget Belden, mother of her own charitable two children, is founder of the nonprofit Ripple Kids, Inc. Go to ripplekids.com for more information. For nominations, go to: ripplekids.com/howtobe.php
